

From January 18th to February 26th, the Ministry of Labour will be conducting an occupational health and safety blitz to check that industrial workplaces are protecting their employees from machine hazards. The primary focus of this blitz is machine guarding, lockout and other provincial health & safety priorities, such as internal responsibility systems, electrical hazards and activities associated with the risk of developing musculoskeletal disorders.

The priority sectors are automotive, food & beverage, wood & metal fabrication, textiles & printing, logging, and pulp & paper.
